Webinar on Connecting People to Transit: Communicating Safety in Communities

Transit is evolving for the future, with many changes already here today. Elements like electric vehicles, first mile/last mile solutions, connected infrastructure have all disrupted the way we operate transit systems. No matter the innovation, the most important metric of success is a transit system's safety track record. Within the increasing complexity of future transit operations, safety is paramount. But is the public actually listening to your current safety marketing messages?

Learn more in our newest webinar Connecting People to Transit: Communicating Safety in Communities on Dec 18 at 1pm EST. To register for the webinar, please follow this link.

For more information, please contact Oliver Nicholls at (416) 365-9800 extension 114.
